I am a warm, caring, friendly, and sincere person. I have a sense of humor and love to laugh. I am emotionally in-tuned, and have an upbeat and cheerful personality. A few of my core values are kindness and sensitivity to others, accountability and responsibility, and personal growth. My top priority in life is to run a home that will always be a happy, healthy place for myself, my husband, and for my children.

I am looking for a husband who has strong Torah values. It is important that he has a rav with whom he can be sho'el aitzah. Sensitivity, a sense of humor, and a positive outlook on life are essential.

Considering someone who smokes is not an option for me.
